

Never Heard Again

The Audition

If you need space
I will give you the ocean
These things you put into motion
Can't be replaced
If you need time
I won't hesitate to take
This watch that you gave to me
And stop the hands of time

You say you can explain your actions
But nothing justifies the passion

In the corner of your mind
It was all a lie
Said you needed just a little more time
I backed off
You packed up
Never to be seen or heard again
In the corner of my mind
You were all I see
And everything that I could ever dream
I backed off
You packed up
Never to be seen or heard again
I backed off
You packed up

"So let's take this break
It's not you
It's all me and these damn insecurities"
Is what she said to me
And I know that you will eventually need me
When you can't stand alone on your own feet
Crawl back to me

You say you can explain your actions
But nothing justifies the passion

In the corner of your mind
It was all a lie
Said you needed just a little more time
I backed off
You packed up
Never to be seen or heard again
In the corner of my mind
You were all I see
And everything that I could ever dream
I backed off
You packed up
Never to be seen or heard again

After all
He made you fall
And this won't stand
And after all
I never thought
This would end

You say you can explain your actions

In the corner of your mind
It was all a lie
Said you needed just a little more time
I backed off
You packed up
Never to be seen or heard again
You were all I see
And everything that I could ever dream
I backed off
You packed up
Never to be seen or heard again
