

I Love Being A Princess

The Backyardigans

The folks in my kingdom work hard everyday
Then go home to their dark little huts
Some say a Princess should live like her people
But I reply, "What are you, nuts?"
I love being a princess
I love being a princess
I love smiling regally
While other people kneel

I love being a princess
I love being a princess
I wouldn't trade with anyone
I've got a sweet sweet deal

I wear nice expensive clothes
I sleep on the softest bed
I wear fancy jewelry
There's a crown upon my head

Everyone in Egypt Land must bow and do my bidding
If they don't I'll kick them out
Try it...
See if I'm kidding!

I love being a princess
I love being a princess
The lap of luxury
That's where I hang out

I love being a princess
I love being a princess
A nice arrangement, folks
For me at least no doubt

I love being a princess
She loves being a princess
I love never bothering to open my own door

I love being a princess
She loves being a princess
And just because I feel like it
I will tell you more

When I want a bite to eat
My servants come and serve it
We only bring the best for her
Why? 'Cause I deserve it!

We even come to fan her when she wants a gentle breeze
But she never says thank you and she never ever says please

I ask for snacks
My servants bring them
I ask for drinks
My servants bring them

If she wants songs we'll even sing them

I've got the best servants in the kingdom

If you want to dress like this, and wear a shiny crown
If you like how people look when they are bowing down
If princess life is what you want, your choice is crystal clear
Go find some other country, pal
'Cause I'm the princess here!

I love being a princess
I love lounging on my couch
And ruling royally

I love being a princess
There's just one princess here
And I love being me!

Great is your fame, o' princess
Long may you reign, o' princess
She's such a pain, that princess
I love being me!
