

Roll The Bones

The Ballroom Thieves

Roll the bones
Let's see how far our money goes

Spin me round
Who knows when our good luck runs out
But I don't mind if you don't mind
We come alive just past the edge of the midnight

I wanna drink until we both forget the downside of an early death

You're still worried I might show my tell
But I never will, never will, yeah

Count my sins
And tell your mother, tell the reverend
And I'll sin again, and again, and again
Dive in, I'll show you where the river ends

I wanna swim until we both begin to feel the weightlessness sink in

You're still worried I might show my tell
But I never will, never will

My time, it never would have come
If you'd left me standing
Yeah, my time, it never would have come
If you'd left me standing
Yeah, my time, it never would have come
If you'd left me standing
Yeah, my time, it never would have come
If you'd left me standing
