

Sugar Queen

The Band of Heathens

She's got rings on her fingers that shine like Mercury
She never paints her nails, she like the yellow from nicotine
You can keep your fashion mag, she likes Titos in a paper bag
Yeah, you falling off her hips, wishing you was in her jeans
She never talk too much but she just know what she'd say
She got space in her teeth, where she hides her words away
She knows she looking good, she don't care if she's understood
Yeah, she even talks dirty when she's on her knees to pray

Swinging from a cage, acting half her age
No time for games, she know just what she needs (knows just what she needs)
She went looking for another man
And she found him where I stand
I love that sugar, love my sugar queen

Yeah, the people start talking when she walking on down the street
Dropping them jaws with every single one she meets
She likes to get her thrills, on the edge of the window sill
All the people gather round but she coming home with me

Swinging from a cage, acting half her age
No time for games, she know just what she need (know just what she need)
She went looking for another man
She found him right where I stand
Oh yeah, I love my sugar, love my sugar queen
Yeah, I love my sugar, love my sugar queen
Swinging from a cage, acting half her age
No time for games, she know just what she need (know just what she need)
You know she looks so good in fur
You got to hear that pussycat purr
Oh, I love that sugar, love my sugar queen
Swinging from a cage, acting half her age
No time for games, she know just what she need (know just what she need)
She went looking for another man
She found him right where I stand
I love my sugar, love my sugar queen
Yeah, I love that sugar, I love that sugar queen
Oh you know I love my sugar, love my sugar queen
