

Home Again

The Basics

I quit my job on a Friday
Told all my friends it's goodbye (eh)
Within a week I was flyin'
'Cross the sea
To where I'm meant to be

Everything felt like a failure
I'd had enough of Australia
The grass is greener philosophy
I don't wanna be

The sun, it crosses in the sky
As I close my tired eyes
When I wake I will
Be home again
Home again

She said that we were connected (oh)
I don't know what I expected (oh)
Maybe I hoped she could rescue me
From everything
Now I'm there again

But the sun, it crosses in the sky
As I close my tired eyes
When I wake I will
Be home again
Home again

The sun, it crosses in the sky
As I close my tired eyes
When I wake I will
Be home again
Home again

Home again
Home again
Home again

I have to wonder at night
Could I have stayed there to fight for it
But there's no sense in denyin'
I was all alone
Now I'm comin' home

Everything right where I left it
I don't know what I expected
She said that we were connected

And the sun, it crosses in the sky
As I close my tired eyes
When I wake I will
Be home again
Home again

The sun, it crosses in the sky
As I close my tired eyes

When I wake I will
Be home again
Home again

Home again
Home again
Home again
