

Change Can Happen

The Bees

Oh, where ever I go I'm a fish that leaves bubbles
And I tell you all that I know along with my troubles
And it's the story of my life nothing can touch me
And it's the stories that I like

Change can happen and it usually does
But I can't see changing anything between us

So I've knocked on every door and rung all the numbers
Left messages to call, am I the only survivor?
And it's the feelings that I try to gather and conquer
And it's the feeling that I find

Change can happen and it usually does
But I can't see changing anything between us

Well that's the story of my life, can you imagine?
And it's the stories that I like

Change can happen and it usually does
But I can't see changing anything between us
