

Heard It On The Radio

The Bird and the Bee

When we first met, it wasn't what you said
And still I loved you like mad, I loved you like mad
When we first met, they were playing that song
And then it stuck into my head, stuck into my head
When we first kissed, it made it to my list
And I couldn't stop myself, think of nothing else
When we parked the car, they were playing that song
And we turned it up to ten and started up again

Every time I hear it play
I think of you and those summer days
Oh, I can still remember
When I heard it on the radio
Oh, but now we are September
Come on, forget what we know

When you broke my heart, there was nothing you could say
And still I loved you like mad, I loved you like mad
Now that I think back, it wasn't what we had
They were just playing that song, made it last so long

Every time I hear it play
I think of you and those summer days
Oh, I can still remember
When I heard it on the radio
Oh, but now we are September
Come on, forget what we know

Oh, I can still remember
When I heard it on the radio
Oh, but now we are September
Come on, forget what we know
Oh, I can still remember
When I heard it on the radio
Oh, but now we are September
Come on, forget what we know
