

Bitter

The Black Box Revelation

Live in a world of anger
Not one day to calm you down
No one wants to surrender
Who will be the first to fall?
Each and every one of us needs someone to make love be true
We'll be in love forever
Why don't we eat each others heart?
My heart tastes bitter without yours
Without your heart
Long gone in blood like amber
Underneath the apple tree
The children climb our branches
Impatient for the fruit to fall
Each and every single day's an everlasting passion kill
Our souls entwined forever
Doomed together from the start
My heart tastes bitter without yours
Without your heart
