

Blackout

The Bouncing Souls

Cold night, only 6pm
Surrounded by this old comforting glow again
Outside it's dark, so unsettling
Dark times are closing in
Dark times are rolling in

Cold night, only 8pm
Thank god I'm surrounded by so many friends
Outside no one knows where to begin
Dark times are closing in
Dark times are rolling in

And if I don't talk to you and your hope is wearing thin
I'll see you when the sun shines again
And if I don't see you and it feels like it's the end
I'll see you when the sun shines again

Reflections dancing on the ceiling
I can't make sense of what I'm feeling
We take our stance and make our plans
Our hearts are in good hands
Our hearts are in good hands

And if I don't talk to you and your hope is wearing thin
I'll see you when the sun shines again
And if I don't see you and it feels like it's the end
I'll see you when the sun shines again

And if I don't talk to you and your hope is wearing thin
I'll see you when the sun shines again
And if I don't see you and it feels like it's the end
I'll see you when the sun shines again
