The Bouncing Souls

In the night you've been persuaded
You are all invaded
The hook was in so deep and then
Before you had the chance to leap
And the world doesn't care

You needle with your stitches but
Its not air tight when you descend
On this blind search to find a life
In your dream where there's no end
And the world doesn't care
It's gonna to try to take you somewhere

There's a place just out of reach
Fear and sadness will never breach
An endless space its all your own
More than just home, more than just home
You're hanging on just let go
You're hanging on just let go

I'm in your dreams tightening the seams
With every tear and every scream
The way a river flows down to start again
In the blue sea we're gasping for air
Currents pulling us everywhere
And the world doesn't care, doesn't care

There's a place just out of reach
Fear and sadness will never breach
An endless space its all your own
More than just home, more than just home
More than just home
You're hanging on just let go
More than just home
You're hanging on just let go
