

Happy to Be Myself

The Boy Least Likely To

It was a dream; we had to wake from it eventually. We went around the world, riding the ships, As if they were horses.

I wish I had collected tea towels At least then I've had something useful to Remind me of all the places I might never get to Go back to.

You know that I don't need the world To be anymore complicated than it already is. After the things that we have been through, I'm just amazed that we still exist. And I will find comfort in destroying things. And if you can be happy with me, I'll be happy to be myself.

Alone with my thoughts, I don't want to think like this anymore. I wish that I could just empty my brain And fill it up with happy thoughts again, For a change.

You know that I don't need the world To be any more complicated than it already is. After the things we have been through, I'm just amazed that we still exist. And I will find comfort in destroying things. And if you can be happy with me, I'll be happy to be myself.

It's just that I don't need the world To be any more complicated than it already is. After the things we have been through, I'm just amazed that we still exist. And I will find comfort in the simple things. And if you can be happy with me, I'll be happy to be myself.