

Necessary Evil

The Bronx

But we won't always had to live like regular people
But right now it's a necessary evil
The days gonna come and everybody will know
But right now it's best if we just lay low

Life can change in the matter of seconds
You go from stimulants to antidepressants

We always had to share the same old needle
But right now it's a necessary evil
It said walk down the line the sun's gonna shine
But too men will fade into the night

Life can change in the matter of seconds
You go from stimulants to antidepressants
Life can change in the blink of an eye
You were saying hello, now you're waving goodbye

But we won't always had to live like regular people
But right now it's a necessary evil
The days gonna come and everybody will know
But right now it's best if we just lay low

Life can change in the matter of seconds
You go from stimulants to antidepressants
Life can change in the blink of an eye
You were saying hello, now you're waving goodbye