

Shut Up Sugar

The Buttersonges

Baby you keep saying things you don't mean
Your newfound ego has a big mouth
And now it's so cold on this summer night
If you wanna keep me around
You better treat me right

Shut up, sugar
Shut up

(Whoa)

There was a time
I could look you in the eyes
Feeling so good
With love on my side
But now I'm afraid that this disdain is here to stay
Do you wanna tell me why you suddenly changed

Many single nights without showdowns
In our room with no one else around
You have my heart but keep ringing it out
Baby don't say another word
Please

Shut up, sugar
Shut up
