In the Afternoon

The Cardigans

Winter came by my bedroom today
Falling in rows and covering the lane
Morning shone on my windows today
Passing the time I slumber away
To kill all the day

Stumbling up at once
And put the kettle on
But where's the coffee gone?
In the afternoon I put the tv on
But where's the drama gone?
In the afternoon
And time is all that passes

Someone came by my bedroom today Swaying around then silently away Someone left home and my bedroom today Left by the time I slumbered away To kill all the day

Some people don't hurry Don't you worry they say One day I'll be older So much colder I say This fear won't appear
