

Rosie

The Cats

I`ve been out all night up and down the lonely backstreets in a nd out of every barroom door every hangout that we used to know and I feel so strange seeing the old familiar faces doing my be st to keep myself in touch but I keep missing you much too much and I wonder what you`re doing for love these days it`s been a long time since anybody here has seen your face yes I wonder wi ll I find someone to take your place life ain`t easy without yo u, it`s cold here these days

Rosie it`s been so long since I`ve seen you it`s been so hard h ere without you I can`t stop thinking about you Rosie sometimes I think that I see you sometimes I think that I feel you Rosie it`s cold here these days it`s the same old town nothing else seems to change too much ev en the movie at the all night show I`ve seen it play a dozen ti mes or more and I feel so strange something blindly through the darkness it `s allways empty at the backrow seats until I close my eyes `n you`re with me

Chorus

and I wonder do you go out at night and do you ever get fooled in the neonlight and do you think you see my face where sometim es I think it`s you and when you disappear from sight just anot her shadow in the night another shadow in the night
