

Green Lights

The Chainsmokers

Fool me for a second time
I guess the blame's all mine
And acting cool is just a state of mind
And so I say that I'm fine, but

No, I never meant to feel this way, oh
And now I'm waiting for the light to change, and then I'm gone,
yeah
And maybe I could never make you stay, oh
And now I'm waiting for the light to change, and then I'm gone

You say that you're always right
Put your foot on the gaslight
If reality's a state of mind
You say what you want, but I don't wanna change mine

No, I never meant to feel this way, oh
And now I'm waiting for the light to change, and then I'm gone,
yeah
And maybe I could never make you stay, oh
And now I'm waiting for the light to change, and then I'm gone

Name drop
Even though you won't admit it, you're a fame bot
Even though you can't commit, it doesn't change much
You're pushing all the limits of the tame drugs

I won't give up
Like I'm on an audition for the same love
Everyone is missing, it don't take much
Ooh