Were you talkin' to the shrubbery? Did you cut the roses down?
Someone oughta till that ground You thought I had a pure heart, well I thought you were an angel, girl Mercy is the silver pea

My mother deems me ever dear I'm less a liar than sincere

When you cut me in the alley-way You don't have to turn that kn ife I'll suffer in the afterlife Prayin' to the Father Sorry, d id I grieve the Ghost? You're the one I love the most
