

Graven Wood

The Clientele

Let us, to Graven Wood, go
To walk across the sad green grass at last
To dream through the trees at the start of night

Can you now recall the reasons why you came to stay?
Fallen in a dream where nothing stays the same