Burn Victims

The Color Morale

They say the things that love you will never stay, is that real ly true? I guess you made everyone leave before they could hurt you, but who taught this to you? Hurting people will always be hurting people, it was you that m ade me me Every storm made me soak to find strong roots, I am reminded, I am reminded All my roots are starting to show yet I'm still trying to grow And I am reminded, I am reminded there is still hope And I hope one day you will understand pain is just a brand I've given my life to keep it away from your skin And I hope one day you will understand pain is never planned And the start of a cycle is always the end when we are the vict ims And that's how I know I need to write about this for you The youth that never got told the truth That's my problem, I've got intentions on both sides Stitched together with lies and more songs left to write

Do things., write this time about how to untangle all the knots that we keep tied

My stomach is weak because you made me me and someone made you you

We are the victims and I am the hope

And I hope one day you will understand pain is just a brand I've given my life to keep it away from your skin And I hope one day you will understand pain is never planned And the start of a cycle is always the end when we are the vict ims And I hope one day you will understand pain is never planned When the start of the cycle is always the end when we are the v ictims

You, you are the victim and I am still learning that I can be t he hope
