

Simple Things

The Crash

We want all very simple things but we know very little
And so we get very complicated stuff love and such, 'cause all in all we're beautiful

How easily we fall in love
You walk to me, you talk to me
And sudden glances fall upon you and me
This harmony was meant to be a symphony

We all assume that we rule our lives but we can't even hold our breath Who knows how suddenly worlds are turning how suddenly things may change?
We are so terribly unpredictable and wonderful
Just turn around and I'll be gone

How easily we fall in love
You walk to me, you talk to me
Then suddenly you go again
I'm losing you, I'm losing you
Oh talk to me, I'm losing you

And now, it's all very simple now
I hope you get this love alive, as easy as it is

How easily we fall in love
You walk to me, you talk to me
And suddenly you're far away
I'm losing you, I'm losing you
Then silently you answer me:
"You're fading out, I'm losing you"
Oh talk to me. I'm holding on
