

There's A Difference

The Crystal Method

You think you know what's gonna be
But listen, baby, carefully
There's words you lost, what you cut loose
Those little white lies offer greater truth

There's a difference, baby
Yes, there's a difference, baby
Have fun

(Different)
(Different)
(Different)
(Different)
(Different)

There's what you know and what you believe
What you won't take, what you leave
There's a difference, baby
(Different)
Yes, there's a difference, baby
(Different)

Everybody talkin' 'bout the new world, the new way
But all bad habits are hard to break
'Cause it's helping good in the distance
And it's different, baby, yes, it's different

But I saw my face in the water
And I took my hands and I washed 'em clean
And I found my staff in the distance
I was different, and you was different from me

(Different)
Different from me
(Different)
There's a difference 'cause you were different from me
