I was standing on the mountain, back against the world Left it all behind me, how my life had turned Seen so much destruction, the fear upon your skin Don't let it turn against you, drive you down again

Caught up in the moment, accelerated dream Possessed by a notion of how my life should be

All you true believers You gotta move on, gotta move on All you true believers You gotta move on with your life, yeah

Pick up your pretty head, girl, stop crying to yourself Run into the wild places far from here We are darker angels, black lighting in our heads We are far beyond the moment, too far to care

Standing on the mountain, our backs against the world When we leave it all behind us, how our lives have turned, whoa-oh

All you true believers
You gotta move on, gotta move on, gotta move on, yeah, c'mon now
All you true believers
You gotta move on with your life, whoa-oh

I believe that it shines...

I was standing on the mountain, my back's against the world Left it all behind me, and how my life had turned I seen so much destruction, the fear upon your skin Don't let it turn against you and drive you down again

All you true believers You gotta move on, gotta move on, gotta move on, whoa, yeah All you true believers You gotta move on with your lives, whoa-whoa

I got a mortal skin
Got a mortal life
Wanna be immortalized
Living in forever skies
I wanna live forever, yeah

I got a mortal skin
Got a mortal life
Wanna be immortalized
Living in forever skies
I wanna live forever

Got a mortal life Got a mortal skin Wanna be immortalized
