

Miscommunication

The Dangerous Summer

"Are you serious?" She said
"I never should have let you in my head
Who the hell do you think that you are?
I see you climbing over innocent hearts.
I'll say exactly what I feel; "I'm not impressed at all"
You really want to know just what I think?
You're lost.
I'm tired of always being second best.
Get out, and find that pseudo comfort
Somewhere else."

We fall to miscommunication

And in that moment I might die
I'll let you go; if you really mean it
All this time, but you didn't know
I felt misled in my mind
We'll take it slow
Leave all the people to their lives and find our home

I was tearing at the threads that you are
And it never seemed to get me too far 'til now
"I'm not impressed at all"
You really want to know just what I think?
You're lost.
I'm tired of always being second best.
Get out, and find that pseudo comfort
Somewhere else."

We fall to miscommunication

And in that moment I might die
I'll let you go; if you really mean it
All this time, but you didn't know
I felt misled in my mind
We'll take it slow
Leave all the people to their lives and find our home

She said, "I'm tired of always being second best,
Since everything this year has been a mess
Half my family's gone for good so here I sit
I need a comfort in a boy that takes my hits
Do you remember when we met? We were alone
It was middle of the night outside my home.
We stayed up late just for the start of something new
I can't believe your distance left us."

We fall to miscommunication

And in that moment I might die
I'll let you go; if you really mean it
All this time, but you didn't know
I felt misled in my mind
We'll take it slow
Leave all the people to their lives and find our home

We fall to miscommunication

And in that moment I might die
I'll let you go; if you really mean it
All this time, but you didn't know
I felt misled in my mind
We'll take it slow
Leave all the people to their lives and find our home
