

Wild Again

The Dangerous Summer

It's a fear of mine
What if I could be ignored?
I just want to hear your voice tonight
In the echoes like before
I hear it bouncing off of satellites
I wish I'd given more
I just want to feel your ghost tonight
Give me something I can hold onto
Old and new
Old and new

And the memories fill my eyes

I never want to hold you down
I never want to change your mind
I just want to wear you out
I just want to wear you out
And I can feel your bones touch mine
And even if your bored friend's right
He's saying I don't really care at all
But tell me if you care at all

It's a peace of mine
It can leave me on the floor
Watch me climb out of your head tonight
And I can picture you alone
Yeah, your soul is just as sad as mine
And it gets me like before
I just want to pull you close tonight
Give me something I can hold onto
Old and new
Old and new, yeah

And the memories fill my eyes

I never want to hold you down
I never want to change your mind
I just want to wear you out
I just want to wear you out
And I can feel your bones touch mine
And even if your bored friend's right
He's saying I don't really care at all
But tell me if you care at all

[?] hearts
They're burning wild again
But you still hang around
And I'm still here to drown
The walls are fire and red
But we're not coming down
So let's just figure it out

Our hearts are wild again
But you still hang around
And I'm still here to drown
The walls are fire and red
And I'm not coming down

So let's just figure it out
