

Last Good Day

The Dark Element

Our days are all numbered
And years are but a few...

What would you do if you knew
Today's your last good day
If you knew "the best is yet to come"
Just is no longer true

Say what you have to say
Do what you have to do and do it now
Find all the little things you lost
Among the other useless things

Live for yourself and love yourself
Be always proud of who you are
Leave no regrets, you live but once
And this could be the last good day

Do you ever think and wonder
What you'll leave behind
Will you leave in love and laughter
Leave here with a smile

Say what you have to say
Do what you have to do and do it now
Find all the little things you lost
Among the other useless things

Live for yourself and love yourself
Be always proud of who you are
Leave no regrets, you live but once
And this could be the last good day

Our days are all numbered
And years are but a few...

Say what you have to say
Do what you have to do and do it now
Find all the little things you lost
Among the other useless things

Live for yourself and love yourself
Be always proud of who you are
Leave no regrets, you live but once
And this could be the last good day

What would you do if you knew
Today's your last good day
If you knew "the best is yet to come"
Just is no longer true