

We All Fall Down

The Dead Daisies

One eye'd jack is laughing at the king
Cause he got more than one eye on the queen
All the silver all the gold
It can't change how it is told
And we all know just how the story ends

You and me, the birds and the bees
And the wind that bends the tree
In a blink of an eye
It'll change your life
When it all comes to call
The writing's on the wall
We all fall down

And the king who doesn't give but only takes
Let him try to get on through those pearly gates
When he finds he is denied
He'll regret what's left behind
Cause there won't be nobody left to blame

You and me, the birds and the bees
And the wind that bends the tree
In a blink of an eye
It'll change your life
When it all comes to call
The writing's on the wall
We all fall down

Do you like what you are
Do you lie, do you live in the dark
Well it all comes around
And we all fall down

You and me, the birds and the bees
And the wind that bends the tree
In a blink of an eye
It'll change your life
When it all comes to call
The writing's on the wall
We all fall down
