Rebirth

The Dear Hunter

A sinister slide resounds From the fountainhead found When fortune aligned

The roots that ripped had run too deep Left to dig in the weeds And climb up the vine

Your mind is only echoing What your heart wouldn't say I'll be me, in time