

Time

The Devil Wears Prada

There's something I can't share
It's just too hard to explain
I'm barely holding on
It happens everyday
Like a desperate dream
That never goes away
I'm barely holding on
I'm lost in the wake

Oil floats within the water
Soon to be set aflame

Time's moving like lightning
Time shifts like a glacier
It's the opposites that I can't accept
This collision certain death

There's something I can't share
It's just too hard to explain
I'm barely holding on
It happens everyday
Like a desperate dream
That never goes away
I'm barely holding on
I'm lost in the wake

What's to be done about this friction
Plagued habits again

I've been struck by the lightning
I've vanished, gone with a glacier
Cause it's the opposites that I can't accept
This collision certain death

There's something I can't share
It's just too hard to explain
I'm barely holding on
It happens everyday
Like a desperate dream
That never goes away
I'm barely holding on
I'm lost in the wake

Time's moving like lightning
Time shifts like a glacier
Time's moving like lightning
Time shifts like a glacier

Welcome to the great division
The space where numb meets pain

There's something I can't share
It's just too hard to explain
I'm barely holding on
It happens everyday (Where numb meets pain)
Like a desperate dream
That never goes away

I'm barely holding on
I'm lost in the wake