

Vertical

The Devlins

Now the ground That's beneath your feet It's an open road It will take you where you want And the sky That's above your head It's yours now Go right through it if you dare But what you gonna do When it comes in on you And you're hurting? The waves breakin' on your back Are the lies you told The truth you once held in your hand But what you gonna do When they crash in on you And you're drowning? But now you're free You're almost vertical You're so high You're so high No one can touch you now The change That you're searchin' for Hard to find No matter where you are So what's it gonna take How many more mistakes This time around? But you're free It's like you're vertical You're so high You're so high Yeah, you're free To be who you wanna be You're so high You're so high Oh Seems a little late To find out who you are It's a circle, a sequence of events Running through your days It's time you were gone Is there a place where you can go? I can feel it in my bones We've been runnin' all this time And the streets and the accents and the fires And you're free You're almost vertical You're so high You're so high Yeah, you're free You're almost vertical You're so high You're so high Oh
