

Invisible Thread

The Divine Comedy

I'm sewn into your collar
You're stitched into my heart
And though I know you've got to go
It's tearing me apart
You're stitched into my heart

Now go, spread your little wings and fly
Smile, you don't need a reason why
Leave if you've got to leave, just know
There will always be
An invisible thread
Between you and me

I used to think that no one
Could keep you safe but me
That only I could guide you
Through life's crazy tapestry
But now you're guiding me

So go, spread your little wings and fly
Laugh, you don't need a reason why
Leave if you've got to leave, just know
There will always be
An invisible thread (an invisible thread)
Between you and me (Between you and me)
An invisible thread (An invisible thread)
(Between you and me)

Everything's connected
The fibers intertwine
The birds and bees
The flowers and trees
And even you and I

And when the time is right we go
Spread our little wings and fly
Sing, we don't need a reason why
Cry if you want to cry
But this is not goodbye
There will always be
An invisible thread (an invisible thread)
Between you and me (Between you and me)
An invisible thread (An invisible thread)
Between you and me

An invisible thread
Invisible thread
Invisible thread
Invisible thread
(An invisible thread) Invisible thread
(An invisible thread) Invisible thread
(An invisible thread) Invisible thread
(An invisible thread) Invisible thread
(An invisible thread) An invisible thread
(An invisible thread) Between you and me
(An invisible thread) An invisible thread
(An invisible thread) Between you and me

(An invisible thread) An invisible thread
(An invisible thread) Between you and me
(An invisible thread) An invisible thread
(An invisible thread) Between you and me
