

Mr Right

The Divine Comedy

We've been together a couple of months now
We've laughed a lot, yeah, we haven't had one row
Needless to say, could it all stay that way, how Wonderful life would be

But I've got a feeling the honeymoon's over
You said you love me and honey I know where
"I love you" can lead and I don't wanna go there
Surely you can see that it isn't you, it's me

I know that one day your prince will come
But look at me baby, I'm not the one
I'll show you a good time
Tonight
But I'm sorry sister
I'm not your Mr. Right

Everyone tells me I'm scared of commitment
I'll be a lot more scared if I knew what it meant
Everyone knows that I live for the moment
And now that moment's passed

It's hard to explain it, but baby I'm trying
It would make it easier if you could stop crying
I'd tell you the truth but I'm too used to lying
It's so long since I last took off this iron mask

Well, I know that one day your prince will come
But look at me, baby, I'm not the one
I'll show you a good time

Well, I know that one day your prince will come
But look at me baby, I'm not the one
I'll show you a good time
Tonight
But I'm sorry sister
I'm not your Mr. Right