A Good Day to Die

The Dogma

Look for a dark ride Hey, welcome to my life Gaze into my soul Set me free to show

Frozen dreams in a lake of tears Childhood eyes searching for some light

When all hopes are fading, your screams can't be heard no more Good day to die

No don't cry in vain, save your tears for your pain Sympathy for me will not save you from your sins

Broken dreams in a world of grey Neon lights in the coldest night

When all hopes are fading, your screams can't be heard no more Good day to die Even pain is a just a memory, feeling dead inside Good day to die

Running ruby red...A sleep without a dream...Sister don't hate me

When all hopes are fading, your screams can't be heard no more Good day to die
Even pain is a just a memory, feeling dead inside
Good day to die
