

Give Myself To You

The Dreggs

I thought I'd rather see it through
This game of tag that I was playing with you
See, you weren't ready and I understand now
But babe fragile loves not meant for two

I picked you up at 3am
You were drunk and I
Was just a little lonely
My brain said yes unlike my heart, oh

I'd rather cut my losses than to give myself to you
Like a battle ship in open war I'd be going down with you
I'd rather cut my losses than to give myself to you
You left me in pieces with memories, with memories for two

I thought I'd rather see it through
This game of tag that I was losing to you
See, I wasn't ready and I understand now
But babe, my fragile heart is now in two

I picked you up at 3am
You were drunk and I
Was just a little lonely
My brain said yes unlike my heart, oh

I'd rather cut my losses than to give myself to you
Like a battle ship in open war I'd be going down with you
I'd rather cut my losses than to give myself to you
You left me in pieces with memories for two

And I sold my time so we'd be together
And I sought the gold that was your love
You made me feel like this was forever
Instead I ended up not being enough

Oh I sold my time so we'd be together
And I sought the gold that was your love
You made me feel like this was forever
Instead I ended up not being enough
Not being enough, oh

I'd rather cut my losses than to give myself to you
Like a battle ship in open war I'd be going down with you
I'd rather cut my losses than to give myself to you
You left me in pieces with memories, with memories for two

I'd rather cut my losses than to give myself to you
Like a battle ship in open war I'd be going down with you
I'd rather cut my losses than to give myself to you
You left me in pieces with memories, with memories for two
Memories for two
Memories for two
Memories for two
