

Water In The Lungs

The Dykeenies

This situation is getting difficult to predict
I know I'm losing touch and you're losing grip
So if you know then please try not let go
Time is ticking away and I'm not young but I'm not that old
So give me time and I'll share my one track mind

We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We're bound to death like water in your lungs

This door into to the dark
Is an accident from a mistake
When I gave my move to an untimely [?]
And then turn

Finding ways to kill my days
But tomorrow I'll be wishing them back one by one
Until tomorrows done

We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We're bound to death like water in your lungs

We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We're bound to death like water in your lungs

We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We're bound to death like water in your lungs

We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We can never be alone around them
We're bound to death like water in your lungs
