

When You Cry

The Dykeenies

It was a temporary high
'Til you said nothing else was right for me
But there was one thing on my mind
"Can anybody else agree?
The way it was off"
A silhouette of something nice
And there's no notice in your care for me
You feel like you've been cast aside
A present that I couldn't see
We're world's apart

And if it takes all night, to make everything work out
We can make it last a while
All we have to do is try
And if it means that much
To waste away everything that you touch
I love it when you try so hard
But I hate it when you cry

A revolutionary time
And you settle now less awkwardly
And there's no reason we can find
Something for us both to keep
The start was off
A different sky you look upon
And there's so much that I can offer you
You said, "Don't drag me here this time"
Wasn't this your plan for me?
To start again

And if it takes all night, to make everything work out
We can make it last a while
All we have to do is try
And if it means that much
To waste away everything that you touch
I love it when you try so hard
But I hate it when you cry
I hate it when you cry [x7]
