

Away

The Echoing Green

"I'm so alone"
I hear you say
I give my hand
you push it away
we can't decide on love or suicide

through the great divide the earth, the moon, the tide if I had a way we could make it would you take it?

if we could
pray the words that endear us awake the vows inside
the heavens sigh
like the groom who sees the first glimpse of his bride... and takes her away.

come take us away.

sometimes we lie
to make the truth seem kind we cast redemption aside just to make it go away
well I'm done being afraid I'll kiss the wounds that I've made and let the scars remain

come take us away.

can you take us away?

come take us away!

away.
