

Sanctuary

The Echoing Green

take naivety from me
and leave me isolated all at once I feel so free yet so captivated
you make the endless waves of time seem so temporary,
you're my missionary...
emissary...
adversary.

R: you define the line
between human and divine
in this empty place
intrinsic grace so necessary
see the skies divide
when hope and fear collides
from this cemetery
offer me this sanctuary

there is violence when you move yet I'm stationary
devastate all my design and make it arbitrary
you break my legs yet leave my knees my will penetrated
I'm eviscerated..
consecrated..
lacerated!

R: you define the line
between human and divine
in this empty place
intrinsic grace so necessary
see the skies divide
when hope and fear collide
from this cemetery
offer me this sanctuary

this heart you break it and make it sacred
these eyes awaken
this breath is taken from you

R: you define the line
between human and divine
in this empty place
intrinsic grace so necessary
see the skies divide
when hope and fear collide
from this cemetery
offer me this sanctuary