

One More Night

The Expendables

One more night, one more day
The past is getting farther away
I try to relate and understand
You know were fallin' all over land

Oh I have seen for many years
The truth it must go on
So we fight to stay alive
The forces are too strong

Some call it self medication, others call it disease
Oh I call it self realization workin' out its case
One day I'll understand
When my road comes to an end

One more night, one more day
The past is getting farther away
I try to relate and understand
You know were fallin' all over land

Oh on my feet no broken bones
I'm sound my soul excite
I break the leash of my memories
That's all I need to realize, realize

I need to stand up and face them
My bridge is bare in the wind
My roots are weak, the soil is dry
My bark is wearin' thin
One day I'll understand
When my trunk gives to the wind

One more night, one more day
The past is getting farther away
I try to relate and understand
You know were fallin' all over land

In my dreams, my fantasy
The wind becomes my eyes
But I can't live in a fantasy
The conscious lies
Conscious lies, conscious lies

One more night, one more day
The past is getting farther away
I try to relate and understand
You know were fallin' all over land