

Weather Man

The Expendables

I ain't no weather man
But I know enough to understand
It takes a lot to get unstuck from a rut
I see the dark clouds
And they're sucking up your space
A new day will be here
Until then I'll be here

And when that rain comes
I will be the one
I will shelter you, I will shelter you
And when you come because you can't find the sun
I will shelter you, I will shelter you

Open up my door and come inside
Break the thunder's roar and lightning strikes
Open up before the rising tide
Open up my door and come inside

You're holding yourself up
You're bound to erupt
Your fire's suffocating stuff
I see those dark eyes
And there's something to your face

A new day will be clear
Until then I'll be here

And when that rain comes
I will be the one
I will shelter you, I will shelter you
And when you come because you can't find the sun
I will shelter you, I will shelter you

Open up my door and come inside
Break the thunder's roar and lightning strikes
Open up before the rising tide
Open up my door and come inside

And I can see the storm
And it's coming right over you
And I can see the storm
And it's coming right over you

Open up my door and come inside
Break the thunder's roar and lightning strikes
Open up before the rising tide
Open up my door and come inside
