

Hail Science

The Faceless

"The day is drawing near when all of mankind will bow to a new god--a god known as Knowledge that will abolish the archaic belief systems designed for those who fear their own mortality. Science is on the verge of debunking the preposterous concepts of mythological superstitions and enlightening the world to a new age of self-empowerment. An age of unfathomable possibility. An age of prosperity. An age of universal advancement and understanding. An age in which the faceless will have to say... We Told You So..."