Death of a sense of humour
'N death of sense
How do you recover from this?

What do you fear? Being found out

Then why do you always give yourself away?

What do you want to do? Hide

Then why go out and make an exhibition of yourself?

What do you seek? Oblivion And drugs walk the streets

What you want to be able to do is worst advice Louse given in largesse

I found my home
I made a calendar that wasn't there
To find whether it was the first of December
Or not

In pity and envy
Dragged from the streets
I quite very very much enjoyed
His jovial lies
Lying

Armoured car interior
Encrusted with bluebottles
I even stoop to an icy vodka
As I feel the inevitable battle creep nearer and nearer
