

Disappointing Past

The Flatliners

Isolated in open space
Everything is lost, but that's not the case
Couldn't see through the crystal glass
And everything goes by so fast
Things that turned around, back to me
Having hit the ground too frequently
But things could only get worse with time
They get worse

And everything will be back to shit again
You will see, you will see
Will you wait for me?

And I'll watch it all fall down
Those things that turned around
Told you they come back to me
And you'll be on the ground
With your face turned down and your back to me

Having heard things in silence
Having seen things in darkness
I'm going crazy, please help me
