

It'll Hurt

The Flatliners

Cough it up
Spell the word out wrong
Throw a dart at a map, your hands in the air
'Cause we'll always have to move just to feel something
And we're off
Can't be scared all I have can fit in one box
You keep smiling and saying it won't hurt
But I think it will
I'm never gonna learn

You say it won't hurt
But I think it will
I think it will, yeah
I think it will
I think it will, yeah

I've found a place for everything
Except for my head and my hands and my heartbeat
Feel the sinking still while I'm chasing defeat
Cut me off
See the engine stall at the end of the block
And you're smiling, saying it won't hurt
But I think it will
I bet we're gonna burn

You say it won't hurt
But I think it will
(I think it will, I think it will)
I think it will, yeah
(I think it will, I think it will)
I think it will
(I think it will, I think it will)
I think it will, yeah
(I think it will, I think it will)

Cough it up
You're sure it won't last long
But I think it will
(I think it will, I think it will)
I think it will, yeah
(I think it will, I think it will)
I think it will
(I think it will, I think it will)
I think it will, yeah, yeah
(I think it will)

I think it will, I think it will
I think it will, I think it will
I think it will, I think it will
I think it will, I think it will...
