

Unconditional Love

The Flatliners

May I object
To the writing on the wall?
Can I expect
Disappointment after all?
If I regret
More than all the naked eyes catch on.

Show me something unforgivable,
'Cause nobody's love is unconditional.

Come on, confess
To the darkness of it all.
Pains in your chest.
Keeping quiet about the fall
From grace, I guess.
Isn't art supposed to heal old wounds and all?
For such a mess,
You've got it cleaned up after all.

Show me something unforgivable,
'Cause nobody's love is unconditional.