

Fall of Heroes

The Foreshadowing

Here again and afterwards
The time has yet to come
Shut the doors and kneel
Tonight you'll pay the toll
In the end you face again
The enemies who've been slain
Mind the fall of heroes
For victory is in vain

While all the prayers are falling off the wall
You still follow the one that promised the end of all
But the day of wrath has just begun

Far beyond the edges
Of the promised land
Far where history has failed
Like the future we betrayed

While all the rest is drifting on apart
And we praise the gods to see the sun
Waiting for the time to rise above

Far beyond the ages
Far beyond the lands
Our history has gone
But tomorrow has begun