

Revelate

The Frames

My simple slant, this broken chant
My human fate, my revelate
Are you so far from me this day
That you can't say my revelate?

My open arms, my lucky charm
My number eight my revelate
I fucked it up, I rest my case
'Cause it all to grey my revelate

Sometimes I need a revelation
'Cause sometimes it's all too hard to take
Sometimes I need a revelation
This time I'm making my own now

Does this mean we're though?
Does this mean it's gone?
I spent a day just to ponder the words
That I would write to you this day
But it's all too great, my revelate

Sometimes I need a revelation
Sometimes its all too much to take
Sometimes I need a revelation
This time it's up in arms
This time I need you revelation

'Cause sometimes it's all too much to take
This time I need you revelation
'Cause sometimes it's easy just to hate you
Sometimes I need a revelation
Sometimes I, sometimes I

Redeem yourself
Redeem yourself
Redeem yourself