

Someone Just Like You

The Franklin Electric

I wanted something I could use
To find what's real, to find the proof
I need a moment just to
To find the truth, to find the truth
But they are speaking backward
But I won't lie, I can't stand a thing about it
I need somebody just like you

When it's beyond as you wait
In the basements, in the bottom of your mind
When you say
You say it's alright
And you can't find the air to breathe

I wanted someone just like you, just like you

And it looks just right
It surprisingly
It resembles all the things you want it to be
Just let your eyes rest
Before they start to bleed
And you'd realize there's nothing here to see
It's just a vivid dream
A curtain of reality
A war with your own pride and fear
And you're the only casualty
Say you wanna die
I can die with you gently

And it's beyond as you wait
In the basements, in the bottom of your mind
Will you say
You say it's alright
And you can't find the air to breathe

I wanted someone just like you, just like you
I wanted someone just like you, just like you

I wanted strength
I needed you
I know it's taken a little while to see it
I can't conform
These cheap little highs
I'm slowly rolling down the road
I need to pace myself out
Going down, down, down, down

And it's beyond as you wait
In the basements, in the bottom of your mind
Well you say
You say it's alright
But you can't find the air to breathe

I wanted someone just like you, just like you
I wanted someone just like you, just like you, just like you
Just like, just like you
I wanted someone just like you
