

You Remember Everything

The Frights

I've been thinking
Have you heard
Ooo mama have you been listening

Are you whistling
Broken bird
Ooo how the tune is so perfect

In a lifetime
In a sec
Find me a way to be laughing

Though a gunshot
Might reflect
Smoke on the bullet train passing

And oh in summer I'll be cold
In winter I'll be bones
You watch me slip away
I'm happier like this
The love that I don't miss
Will come another day

There were tigers
There were bears
Ooo someone shoot me a carpet

I've been hearing
Someone cares
God there's no way I can prove that

In the evening
When it rains
Splash in a puddle of poison

I remember
Something strange
Long before Jesus had spoken

And now I'm shooting through the moon
I'll see you very soon
But you won't see me ahh
The weight I carry is light
It calms me down at night
I'm running through you

I read your letter in the morning
I wrote it down and sent it back
In every joke there is a punchline
And I've never laughed as hard as that
If only sunshine was a feeling
If only heartbreak meant hello
If you were happy as a clam is
I'd never need to let you know
But here I go

If tomorrow

I don't wake
Ooo someone throw me a party

You remember
Everything
How do we have such a body

Every finger
Every word
Somebody's trying to be clever

If I leave you
If I go
Mmm I will love you forever
For ever and ever
