

Brick

The Front Bottoms

In this world of interference
Silence is a bright light
Every day got to manage
This impossible life

Sometimes it's hard to find the problems, distracted butterfly
So at least until you solve them, keep it organized

Find a brick, write my name on
Jealousy exposing me
Write my name into the wet concrete
Find a brick, write my name on
Jealousy exposing me
Write my name into the wet concrete

I might've learned something new
Not everything's so obvious
The circumstance is hard to prove
That one day you'll be proud of us, it's true

Sometimes it's hard to find the problem, distracted butterfly
So at least until you solve them, keep it organized

Find a brick, write my name on
Jealousy exposing me
Write my name into the wet concrete
Find a brick, write my name on
Jealousy exposing me
Write my name into the wet concrete

Many people keep coming to get the head rush
And that's just what happened here
A tale as old as time, really
Just another way to disappear
Find a brick, write my name on
Charity exposing me
Write my name into the wet concrete

Many people get addicted to the head rush
And that's just what happened here
Tale old as time
Just another way to disappear
Find a brick, write my name on
Charity exposing me
Write my name into the wet concrete
