How Long is Too Long

The Get Up Kids

You keep hanging on for more Building walls around the words around the world I keep tripping over hints I keep spilling every secret Without spilling any secrets at all

Don't you know? Of course you don't Of course you don't The words might choke How long is too long when you're waiting by the phone?

Did the issue go this far? Did you set this higher standard for yourself? I know it's not a fault Though I really have to wonder If you'd ever set the standard without help

Don't you know? Of course you don't Of course you don't The words might choke How long is too long when you're waiting by the phone?

Made up You win I'm lost Give in To each Their own With all their sins

You keep hanging on for more Building walls around the words around the world

Don't you know? Of course you don't Of course you don't The words might choke This small town takes every ounce to build its smoke How long is too long when you're waiting by the phone?
